Expressways 5.0 CD-ROM

This CD-ROM features 14 modules on paragraph- and essay-writing that students can complete either at home or in a lab. The modules cover how to write a topic sentence, develop and arrange details, and use sources in addition to different rhetorical styles from process paragraphs to persuasive essays. Expressways can be used in conjunction with any paragraph-to-essay-level textbook or on its own.

Each module includes a separate section on (1) prewriting and drafting, (2) revising, (3) analyzing readings, and (4) a writing lab with three additional topics drawn from the reading. Students learn to generate ideas through step-by-step instruction and related exercises. As they begin to draft these ideas, the program displays their earlier prewriting notes for easy reference. Later, students focus on revising two or three points that are key to each type of writing, such as the use of vivid language for descriptions. Three Questions About the Reading ask students to analyze a brief reading selection for meaning and writing strategies.

- Key terms link directly to a comprehensive glossary so that students can look up definitions as needed.
- Expressways includes expanded coverage of the research process.
