#216: Global Corporate College Partnership Funded with No Changes

Technology Institute of the South Director Rick McKeivitt gave a presentation for the proposal titled "Global Corporate College Partnership." This is an invitation to join a consortium of institutions that will offer corporate training within defined regions. The consortium is being headed by Cuyahoga Community College in Ohio. The group has invited FCCJ to be its sole member college in Florida. Ten colleges comprise the consortium at present. Consortium members will develop curriculum for specific client needs and then share that curriculum with other members, as needed. The monetary request is for the membership fee, which will be applied toward start-up funds for the consortium.

This program supports College Goal One: Prepare Students for Distinctive Success, and as outstanding citizens, in the global knowledge economy

Requested: $32,000 Council action: The council moved to fund this project with no changes to their request

Next Meeting: November 14, 2006
